It continues to be busy, with a lot happening at the King County Council.

There are three different groups looking into the election department's handling of the November 2004 elections. I expect these reports within the next 6-8 weeks and will share the findings with you.

Shaping the Future of Rural King County

Forum at Tolt Middle School

July 26, 7:00-8:30pm in Carnation

Come spend an evening with your neighbors and help shape the future of rural King County. Ideas for ensuring the economic viability of the rural area while maintaining its character will be discussed. Julie Larson, King County Coordinator for Rural Economic Strategy, will lead the forum.

Raging River Bridge Project

One lane of the Preston-Fall City Road will be closed through the end of August while the bridge receives a seismic retrofit. One lane will remain open at all times, except for minor delays during material loading and unloading.

Lake Alice Road Culvert Replacement

This replacement will be for the culvert which crosses under the roadway near the intersection of 339th Ave SE (where it becomes SE 55th Street). The project is planned for a two-month construction period next summer (2006). Since the road has no other outlet it will remain open during the construction.
